Buffer Zone Proposals Rejected By Both Teams

TO TRIM AID MEASURE BY $700 MILLION

Washington, Aug. 2—(P)—The house foreign affairs committee today begins writing a foreign aid bill under notice from its chairman that he wants $700,000,000 trimmed out of the $8,500,000,000 program proposed by President Truman.

The senate foreign relations and armed services committees, meanwhile, continued their joint closed hearings on military and economic aid to friendly nations.

Called to testify today were: Gen. A. Franklin Kibler, one of the U. S. advisers on the mutual defense military assistance program; Ambassador Charles M. Spofford, representing this country to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO); Ambassador Milton Katz, special ECA representative in Europe; and William S. Batt, representing Defense Production by NATO.

Encouraged by the proposal made yesterday by Chairman Richards (D-S.C.) of the house group for an eight per cent cut, some Republican senators talked today of other major changes in the big aid program.

Aside from possible cutbacks, Senator Brewster (R-Me.) said senators are considering these moves:

1. Establishment of a single new agency to administer foreign aid, both military and economic, "outside the State Department." That means outside the control of Secretary of State Acheson.

2. Spreading the $8,500,000,000 program, or whatever amount is (Turn to Page Ten)

Final Defeat of Governor's One-Half of One Per Cent Income Tax Plan Is Predicted

Harrisburg, Aug. 2—(P)—Sen. G. Graybill Diehm (R-Lancaster) today predicted a final defeat next week for Gov. John S. Fine's one-half of one per cent income tax.

"I don't know of any of us who have opposed that tax who have changed their minds," he told a newsman. "They (the administration) don't have the votes."

Diehm was among eight Republican senators who agreed yesterday to take a showdown vote on the levy next Monday in the senate finance committee. He has been one of the leading opponents of the $119,000,000 income tax.

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, senate president pro tempore, said he would ask Chairman "T. Newell Wood (R-Luzerne) of the finance committee to call the Monday meeting "to finally consider this bill."

The committee has had official custody of the bill since a bloc of 11 GOP senators refused to support it last April.

"It has been suggested by the Republican caucus, that due to the many conflicting statements about the proposed income tax, that steps be taken to settle the issue once and for all," Taylor said.

The lineup of the 17-member senate finance committee would indicate that the income tax bill would have difficulty reaching the floor.

Five of its members are among the 11 Republicans who have consistently opposed the bill. Five others are Democrats who have taken a party stand against the levy.

If that opposition continued to a vote, the best administration could summon in support of the bill is seven votes compared to the 10 anti-income tax lawmakers. The decision to seek a senate finance committee vote on the bill (Turn to Page Ten)

BLAME HEAT WAVE FOR TWO DROWNINGS

Johnstown, Aug. 2—(P)—A five year old boy and 16-year old girl drowned yesterday as a heat wave scorched western Pennsylvania.

Dennis Goldie of Johnstown drowned in the swimming pool at Quemahoning Dam near Johnstown at a picnic for employees of Bethlehem Steel Company. The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Goldie of Johnstown. Elaine Tomb, 16-year old daughter of Frank Tomb of Armagh in Indiana county, drowned while swimming in a pond on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Myers near Indiana.

RECOVER BODY OF MISSING SCOUTER

Westfield, N. Y., Aug. 2—(P)—The body of Cecil R. Kelley, 25-year-old Pittsburgh Scoutmaster missing since July 21, was found in the Lake Erie shore near here.

Kelley and Scout Victor Smith, 8, also of Pittsburgh, drowned when they went for a canoe ride. Smith's body was recovered last week, Kelley's yesterday.

Certificates of accidental death due to drowning were issued by Chautauque County Coroner Harry Hemstreet.

Weatherbeaten and Bearded Man Makes Suckers of Hospitals Across the Nation

Reno, Nev., Aug. 2—(P)—A weatherbeaten and bearded old man with a genius for faking heart attacks has made a sucker of hospitals across the nation, the Veterans Administration here reported today.

Manager Edward F. Reed of the Reno V. A. center ordered an investigation after a man who identified himself as Lt. John Boyer, 64, a "veteran of the Civil War," staged a "collapse" in public here July 17. The Veterans Administration gave him hospital care.

Files sent from V. A. headquarters in Washington showed, however, that Boyer's name was actually Walter Engle Urwiler and that he was 69, not 104. He has used about 40 other aliases too, the report said.

But Boyer, who told doctors he had hit his head on an old soldier's home in San Diego and that he had served with the Pennsylvania Volunteers, had disappeared after receiving expensive treatment—all free of charge.

Treatment included private nurses and oxygen tents. Boyer checked out of the hospital last Sunday after V. A. officials discovered he was not on the list of surviving Civil War veterans. They had moved him to a less luxurious ward.

Sunday night a man who said he was Robert Larson of Chicago, so "104," appeared in Susanville, Calif., 80 miles north of Reno, and "suffered a heart attack." He was given a private room and special attention at the Susanville hospital.

V. A. records attribute Urwiler's ability to convince doctors he was dying of heart failure to a "flattering diaphragm." They say he can accelerate his heart action to 300 beats a minute.

V. A. officials said no action is planned against Urwiler.

TEN MILE STRETCH OF TURNPIKE READY

Harrisburg, Aug. 2—(P)—A ten mile stretch of the Pennsylvania turnpike between Irwin and Pittsburgh will be opened to traffic on August 7.

Gov. John S. Fine, in fixing the date, said no ceremonies are planned.

The stretch is part of the 67-mile western extension of the famed toll highway to the Ohio border now under construction. It will connect Irwin, the present western terminus with the Pittsburgh interchange near Monroeville at the junction of U. S. route 22.

150 at Open House in Celebration of 25th Birthday of Scout Camp Olmsted

Camp Olmsted, the Warren County Boy Scout Camp, held open house on Wednesday afternoon and evening in celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the Camp. Fifty persons were at Camp for the dinner which proved to be a very successful affair.

A big feature of the party was the cutting of the birthday cake by F. M. Caughey, H. L. Banghart, and C. W. Rogers. These Scouters were actively interested in the planning and promotion of Camp Olmsted during the early days. A great many changes and improvements have been made this year, especially in the remodeling of the kitchen and installation of lights in the dining hall. During the afternoon, J. S. Fees

FECHTLER IS CHOSEN NEW NAVAL CHIEF

Washington, Aug. 2—(P)—Adm. William M. Fechtler, who steered clear of the "admirals' revolt" against administration policy, is President Truman's choice for the top navy command.

The president sent to the senate yesterday the nomination of Fechtler, now commander of the Atlantic fleet, to be chief of naval operations, succeeding the late Adm. Forrest P. Sherman who died July 2nd while on a military-diplomatic mission to Europe.

Fechtler, 55 years old and with 35 years of Navy service, has had wide experience in virtually every type of warship—except submarines and aircraft carriers.

That appeared to be one of the reasons why Mr. Truman chose him, because he was not an airman and thus not touched by the zeal with which Navy airmen plunged into the controversy with the Defense Department and the Air Force three years ago. There have been strong indications in recent weeks that the feud between the Air Force and Navy—long-range land based bombers vs. carrier-borne air power—might boil to the surface again.

In choosing Fechtler, the president passed by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chief of the Pacific fleet, senior of four-star admirals on active duty. Radford is a Navy airman who played a part in the old Navy-Air Force controversy. To fill the vacancies which will be created by the expected senate confirmation of Fechtler's nomination, Mr. Truman nominated Adm. Lynde D. McCormick, now the acting chief of naval operations, to be commander of the Atlantic fleet. McCormick was a submariner before he became vice chief of naval operations. Vice Adm. Donald P. Duncan, deputy chief of operations, was proposed by the president for promotion to vice chief.

Step one: A presidential proclamation issued yesterday to establish the basic authority for carrying out a recent congressional order. The order instructed the president to cancel concessions to the Reds.

Mr. Truman also instructed Snyder to embargo imports from China of ermine, fox, kolinsky, marten, mink, muskrat and weasel furs.

Other areas covered by the ban on trade benefits are Albania, Estonia, East Germany, Communist-controlled parts of Indochina, North Korea, the Kurile Islands, Latvia, Lithuania, Outer Mongolia, Romania, Southern Sakhalin and Tanna Tuva.

With the exception of Romania these areas which had no firm trade agreements or treaties with the United States. State Department officials said there was therefore no reason why action could not be taken now. Action against Moscow bloc nations with which the U. S. has tighter trade treaties will take longer. Grave Warning Is Sounded by Duff

Philadelphia, Aug. 2—(P)—Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) said last night that if the present cease-fire negotiations in Korea break down war "will blaze out bigger than ever and we will be able to assume that World War III is here."

But even if the Korean war ends as the result of the present negotiations, Senator Duff predicted, the United States "will be in hardly less danger."

The senator and former governor of Pennsylvania told Pennsylvania chiefs of police, holding their annual convention here, that in his opinion Russia does not want peace. He said the Russians tried and failed at aggression in Korea and now are attempting to save face.

"They are holding the dagger behind their backs while Malik (Russian U. N. Delegate Jacob Malik) asks for peace," Duff said. In defense of U. S. action in Korea Duff said that if Communism had not been stopped there, it would have jumped to Japan, Formosa and the Philippines and sealed off all of eastern Asia.

JAILED IN DEATHS
Pittsburgh, Aug. 2—(P)—Marion C. Gale, 42-year-old truck driver from Denver, Colo., has been sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500, in the traffic death of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allega of nearby Ambridge in April, 1950. Gale's truck, police testified, crashed into an auto carrying the Amburge couple after Gale drove through a flashing traffic signal. A jury convicted him of involuntary manslaughter last January.

POSES "IFS" AND "BUTTS"—Sporting a fancy cigarette holder worn around his neck, Maj.-Gen. Talks were reported deadlocked by the general's adamant refusal to agree to UN proposals for a cease-fire buffer zone.

Truman Says Ike's Job in Europe Will Not Interfere With Anything in 1952

Washington, Aug. 2—(P)—President Truman said today he doesn't think Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's army job in Europe will interfere with anything in 1952 if the general is interested in politics.

But he told a news conference that in any event he is sure the general will put duty to his country first.

Two senators recently returned from Europe indicated Eisenhower's duties as supreme commander of Western European Forces would keep him out of the field of possible presidential candidates next year.

Asked today how long he thought it would be necessary for the general to remain in Europe, the president said the reporter's guess was as good as his own.

Mr. Truman went on to say if the newsmen was referring to 1952 (a presidential election year) he did not believe those duties would interfere with anything that might happen in 1952 if Eisenhower happened to be in that frame of mind.

The news conference was devoted largely to political fencing. Mr. Truman refused to be drawn out on implications that Eisenhower might return from his North Atlantic military command to run for the presidency. Eisenhower has refused to discuss politics with overseas newsmen.

On other questions Mr. Truman said:

1. He will fly to San Francisco Sept. 4 to open the Japanese peace treaty conference. He said the trip would preclude any "whistle stop" campaigning at this particular time.

2. He would not comment on a proposal by Sen. Mundt (R-SD) proposing an alliance of southern Democrats and northern Republicans.

3. He is continuing his investigation of charges that William Boyle, Democratic national chairman, was paid a fee in connection with an RFC loan to a Missouri corporation.

4. He is very sorry that Sen. Connally (D-Tex.) took the position he did earlier this week sharply criticizing overseas foreign aid programs.

5. He always has to be in favor of the Democrats in a choice between them and Republicans. This was in connection with request for comment on the Republican nomination of Dr. Daniel A. Poling for mayor of Philadelphia. Mr. Truman referred to him affectionately as a good Baptist preacher.

TWO-PLATOON SYSTEM FOR BORO FIREMEN
Harrisburg, Aug. 2—(P)—Pennsylvania boroughs and townships would be required to set up two-platoon systems for firemen under a bill before the house today.

The measure, submitted by Rep. Harold E. Flack (R-Luzerne), would also fix a maximum 60-hour work week for each platoon or shift.

Jobs or salaries of members of existing borough and township fire departments would not be affected by the bill.

New Measure Raises Ticklish Question About Lawmakers Holding Two Offices

Harrisburg, Aug. 2—(P)—A measure passed by the house and now before the senate has raised two ticklish questions that most likely will remain unanswered unless the Justice Department makes a ruling.

The bill's purpose is to prohibit state legislators from holding local elective posts at the same time. If approved by the senate and signed by the governor it would become law on Sept. 1.

The touchy questions have come out of the way the legislature has been doing: A special session in January seems likely and if it held the questions would become a reality.

What happens to a state legislator, who now holds a local office if a special session is called after the law is passed?

What will happen to five prominent lawmakers if they are elected to local office in November's municipal elections?

Allied and Red Negotiators Are Still Widely Split on Where To Set Up the Armistice Lines

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 2—(P)—United Nations and Communist spokesmen reported that opposing cease-fire teams at Kaesong today rejected the armistice buffer zones proposed by each other.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. delegate, told the Reds the Allies must hold a defensible line across Korea, such as the Allies propose, during a truce because of the possibility "of an armistice violation by the other side."

The Red Peiping radio reported the chief Communist delegate, Lt. Gen. Nam Il, "repudiated the buffer zone" proposed by Joy "deep across the 38th parallel."

There was no indication of what the next move would be in the face of apparent flat rejections by both sides. Neither has hinted at compromise.

It was the seventh successive session in which negotiators remained deadlocked on where to draw the armistice line.

They will try again tomorrow despite unswerving positions expressed in Washington and Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. The next meeting is scheduled for 11 a. m. Friday (8 p. m. Thursday, EST).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, U. N. spokesman, quoted Admiral Joy as telling Red negotiators at Kaesong:

"The United Nations command has no intention of violating the military armistice agreed upon, but neither will the U. N. command place itself in an indefensible position in the event of an armistice violation by the other side."

Nuckols said Joy read this prepared statement in response to "a final question" by North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red delegation.

Nuckols did not disclose the nature of this final question. But it was presumed here that the North Korean had asked something like the following question:

If you sincerely desire peace, and intend to observe the armistice why are you talking about defensible positions?

Nuckols said the question had been anticipated, and the answer prepared in advance.

All evidence indicated that Nam's mission at the moment is to keep the conference going while he awaits instructions from higher authorities.

It was believed here that the Russian-trained 38-year-old Korean has received no instructions to change his demand for a buffer zone along the 38th parallel. Consequently his technique was believed to be one of continuing the meeting until such instructions were received, if at all.

The Pyongyang radio gave no indication that North Koreans would compromise. It said the U. N. demand for a cease-fire along present battle lines, most of which run through North Korea, was totally unacceptable.

However, the Pyongyang radio on two previous occasions has taken an uncompromising stand on controversial—but much less important—questions, on which the (Turn to Page Ten)

Move to Raise Pay of Congressmen Is Started After One Quits for New Job

Washington, Aug. 2—(P)—There's a new move afoot to raise the salaries of congressmen since one of them quit this week in order to make some money for his wife and kids.

Don't look for much to come of it, though. Members of congress would like more take-home pay—as who wouldn't?—but they're mighty cagey about voting themselves an increase. For one thing, the voters might not like it. And, there's an election next year.

Every now and then a congressman gives up his job to make more money in private industry. But few have been as frank about their reasons as Texas' Ed Gossett, who stood before the house Tuesday and announced:

"It has become absolutely impossible for a man to do his full duty as a congressman and to do his full duty to his family, especially if he has five small children. It is for the Gossett family, and not for myself, that we return to Texas."

Then after six terms and a part of a seventh, off Gossett went to a $25,000-a-year job as general counsel for a utility company.

Congressmen already make considerably more money than most people. Their salary is $12,500 a year. Then there's a tax-free expense allowance of $2,500. Plus: 20-cents-a-mile travel allowance (once each way per session) to get them from home to Washington and back.

In addition to stationery, telephone and similar allowances, there's around $20,000 a year for office help—and some members devote part of this to a wife's secretary.

Weather Balloon Is Seen In Maryland

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 2—(P)—The maverick weather balloon which floated high in the sky from Cleveland, O., across Pennsylvania made its final appearance north of Hagerstown at sundown last night.

And, as those who had seen it during the day, men and women catching sight of the large silvery object aloft in the blue made hurried telephone calls to report the strange spectacle.

Their calls were met without excitement on the part of police officials who had been informed earlier of the wandering balloon. Their information came from Pittsburgh where a fighter squadron intercepted the object and determined that it was a large plastic weather balloon.

Darkness caught the vagabonding kite place between Hagerstown and Baltimore. Weathermen predicted that the heat today will make the balloon—wherever it is now—rise until it explodes.

Former Minister Is Preacher Sunday At Presbyterian

Dr. Raymon Kistler, president of Beaver College at Jenkintown, will be returning to his former pulpit Sunday morning, when he preaches at eleven o'clock in First Presbyterian church.

The former local minister, long active in church and civic work and widely known as a lecturer, author and educator, is serving as president of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches; regional director for the Japanese Christian University; president of the Cheltenham Township Civic Association, and director of the Abington YMCA. He is a member of the executive committee of the Presbyterian College Union, and at the request of Governor Duff, served as a member of the 1950 Pennsylvania Week Committee.

Dr. Kistler has served as moderator of the Erie and Rochester Presbyteries and as vice moderator of the Synod of New York; as president of the New York State Council of Churches; as president of the Rochester Ministerial Association and as head of the Rochester Federation of Churches.

Before going to Beaver in 1940, he was pastor of Central Presbyterian church in Rochester and previously served pastorates in Pittsburgh, Warren, and Haddonfield, N. J.

A graduate of Westminster College in New Wilmington and Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, he has been awarded honorary degrees by both Westminster and Beaver colleges.

The Kistlers have two children, their daughter graduating from Beaver in 1942 and their son, graduate of University of Rochester in 1940, served as a lieutenant in the Navy during World War II.

Ten of the 59 judges who signed the death warrant of Charles I were executed at the Restoration in 1660.

DOG IN SEWER

City police answered a hurry call to Union and Fifth yesterday when persons there became alarmed for the safety of a large young dog which had wandered into a 14-inch storm sewer. According to officers, the dog probably could have gotten out by itself, but they scared it so that it ran into a manhole where one of the officers was able to grab it by the ears and haul it out of the hole. The dog was unharmed.

Two More Wells Added to Growing Leidy Oil Field

Renova, Aug. 2—Two more wells were added to the growing number of producers in the rich Leidy field over the weekend.

One, a particularly important strike in relation to the development of the field began to blow in Saturday morning. It is located on the Theodore Daugherty land and is the first producer in that particular area. It is also the first hit for the Mid-Atlantic Gas Co. Christians Bros. are the drilling contractors.

The site, known as the Daugherty-Hayes lease, is along Kettle creek.

Gas began to come in Saturday morning. The well was capped over the weekend and blown off Monday. The hole was 5,874 feet deep when the caprock was pierced. Monday the bit was 4½ feet into the Oriskany which is an estimated 13 feet thick. The open flow is 1,100,000 cubic feet and there is 2,000 lbs. rock pressure. The volume is expected to be doubled as the drilling continues. The other well is another by N. Y. State Natural and is in the center of a heavily punched section of the field. Located on the Annual Report Shows Many Patients Aided by County Cancer Society Unit

In addition to financial matters of Warren County Unit, American Cancer Society, which keep officers on their toes throughout the year, one of the chapter's important projects is the educational program which is being carried on under the direction of the county captain, Edna Thompson.

Her annual report shows a total of 12 patients aided through the Cancer Society office since it was first opened in December, 1950; a subscription to Cancer Magazine for the doctors' office at Warren General Hospital; 100 source books on cancer distributed among nurses registered at the hospital; 500 books purchased and distributed among senior high school students, along with manuals for teachers using the textbooks; several hundred booklets and pamphlets distributed through the mail and given out at meetings; posters and booklets for industrial plant workers, distributed with the cooperation of the Foremen's Club.

Of even greater significance, perhaps, was the purchase and showing of the film dealing with breast cancer, designed particularly to enlist the cooperation of women in early perception and diagnosis of the disease.

Secured for the Warren County Medical Society in August, 1950, and shown by Dr. William Cashman, it was later screened for many women's groups, with members of the medical profession giving the commentary.

Among those to whom it was shown were the Medical Auxiliary, American Legion Auxiliary, Warren Business and Professional Women's Club, Order of Eastern Star, several YWCA groups, a number of church organizations, the Firemen's Auxiliary at Russell, and the Fortnightly Club at Tidoute.

The film was used by Dr. John Urbaitis for a nurses' group at Warren State Hospital and was sent to Sugar Grove for two days for high school class work.

A second film, "Traitor Within," was shown at a meeting of the Foremen's Club.

Besides arranging these showings, Miss Thompson attended a women's meeting at Saron Lutheran church, Youngsville, and talked on service work of the chapter; talked to the Ruth Circle at First Methodist church; and, in company with Olive Phillips and Martha Lupold, attended the state convention of the Cancer Society in Bedford Springs in September, 1950.

Working with Miss Phillips as general chairman, the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club staged the annual Cancer Tag Days on April 27-28, 1951, club members handling the campaign details and a group of high school girls conducting the street sales.

One other phase of the Cancer Chapter's activities was establishment of the Cancer Loan Closet at the Warren Service Center, 404 Market street, last December.

This room is open each Friday afternoon from two until four o'clock and is staffed by BPW members. Dressings, rubbing alcohol, antiseptic powder, hospital beds and other sickroom equipment are made available to cancer patients and 12 persons have availed themselves of the service since its institution. Calls are welcomed and further information concerning the Loan Closet may be had by telephoning 2107.

Charlemagne first used the title, kaiser in 800.

Dr. V. H. McAlpin will not be in his office from August 4th to Monday, August 13th.

The Porcupine, or "quill pig," which seems to be increasing in numbers on the Allegheny National Forest, has a few traits which endear him to the timberland manager.

In Canada they are protected by law, because to a lost man without firearms, they offer a source of food which can easily be taken with no other weapon than a club. He can absorb a number of bullets in the body, without dropping dead, but cannot withstand a hard tap with a stick on the end of the nose.

The American Indian used porcupine quills in a number of ways, and their modern descendants still weave beautiful and striking designs from colored quills on articles of birch bark.

To those who find their hunting camps have had holes chewed in the door, and the floor gnawed out, the porcupine occupies the bottom of the popularity list in the Allegheny Plateau animal world.

To the producer of timber, the porcupine usually has no good points whatever. This long toothed rodent seems to pick out the very best trees to chew on, and many a promising young crop tree may have the top completely girdled or the base badly chewed on. If the tree is not killed outright by girdling, the wound provides entrance for fungus. Porcupines are particularly destructive to the remnant of old growth hemlock that grows in scattered clumps, or as single trees, over the forest. On the hemlock they work on the twigs to such an extent that they often cause severe defoliation that the tree dies.

To the hungry deer, when the snow is deep and food is scarce, the porcupine working high in a hemlock top can be a real friend in need. Often deer will congregate beneath a hemlock, in which a porcupine is working, and browse on the many twigs that the "quill pig" cuts off and drops.

In this territory porcupines have no real enemies except man. In the south west the mountain lion or cougar, and bobcat are clever enough to be able to toss a porcupine onto its back and rip him open without picking up quills. There are also authentic reports that coyotes have been observed doing this.

I have often encountered the remains of their carcasses turned literally inside out, and with the flesh eaten away and the quills rendered harmless to the feasting predator.

It only takes one experience at pulling quills from the mouth of a porcupine, to gain a wholesome respect for this slow moving but well armed animal. I once had my saddle horse come into the corral with his nose bristling with quills. His curiosity had been rewarded by a slap on the nose by the porcupine's tail. Unlike most dogs he learned a lesson, and never suffered another such experience.

It is not likely that the porcupine will become extinct on the Allegheny National Forest despite efforts by man to reduce the population of this rodent. Its numbers, however, should be kept so that its destructiveness to timber and buildings will be kept at a minimum. However, it is an interesting animal and there is room in the forest for a reasonable number of them.

Oh yes, a porcupine cannot "throw" its quills.

Russia is 83 per cent agricultural, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

MISSOURI FLOOD-CONTROL

All up and down the Missouri, which lived up to its name again and left its "Big Muddy" imprint on the cities and towns, the farms and industries of the river valley, the battle cry is "it will never happen again."

There have been similar cries before, but year after year the Missouri and Mississippi rise over their banks to flout man-made efforts to keep the waters within bounds. The cry is stronger this year, however, for this time the rivers went on the worst rampage in a century.

And there have been lots of plans to control the floods, too, along with lots of arguments over their merits.

Currently, the Pick-Sloan Plan seems to have the approval of Congress. In the last six years, more than a billion dollars have been appropriated for this system, a 10-state inter-agency affair. In its entirety, it would include 105 dams, plus control basins, and levees from Sioux City, Ia., to St. Louis. Over all, it is a vast five billion dollar project.

Thus far it is 25 per cent completed, but a lot of the rest of the plan has been by-passed by Congress for urgent defense work. Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, co-author of the plan, answered criticism of failure by pointing out that the plan must be carried out in its entirety to insure flood protection for all parts of the basin.

There is other criticism which embraces the whole idea of the Pick-Sloan Plan. Opponents claim it is a piecemeal program enmeshed in politics and conflicting local interests. These critics want a Missouri Valley Authority, like the successful TVA. A bill for an MVA is pending in Congress, but it has been pending for several years without action.

With this year's flood damage in Kansas and Missouri already estimated at nearly a billion dollars, it would seem to be a time for action, rather than argument, for argument will not hold back the flood waters.

If the Missouri Valley people are determined "it will never happen again," the differences between the two plans must be resolved quickly to bring about measures that will work in the near future.

Then Congress must do its part in working out the necessary legislation, remembering that stemming the Big Muddy is urgent defense, too—against a billion dollar enemy.

SPEED CAUSES FATALITIES

The faster you drive, the tighter becomes Death's grip on the steering wheel, according to T. E. Transeau, traffic safety authority and director of Pennsylvania's Highway Safety Bureau.

"Out on the open highway, where there is least traffic control, is where the speeder tramps down hardest on the accelerator," Transeau says. "Naturally, when something goes wrong then, and he collides with another car, or runs over a pedestrian, or rams into a tree, the results are frightful."

Transeau adds that 11 states out of the 48 accounted for well over half of the nation's traffic deaths. Only one of those states had a speed limit lower than 55 miles an hour—most of them permitting mile-a-minute speed or letting the driver use his own judgment as to what is "reasonable and proper." Pennsylvania, whose limit is 50 miles per hour, was not among the 11.

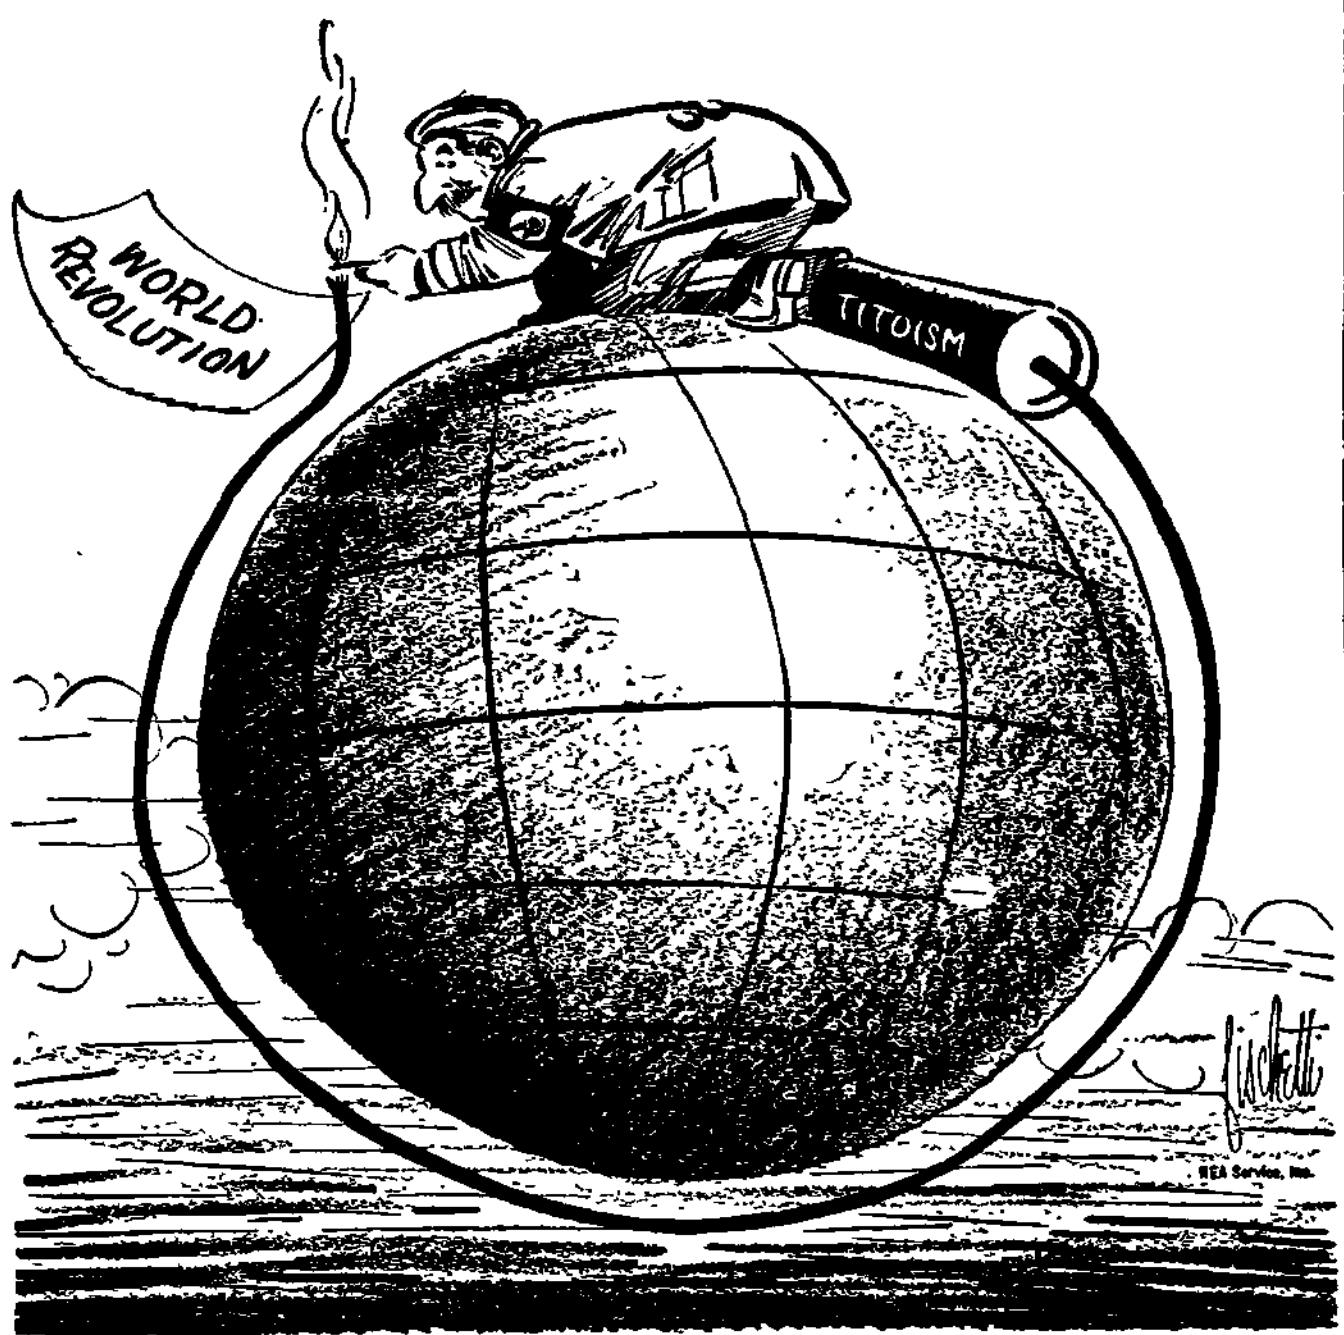

Analyze such statistics carefully, Transeau contends, and you come up with a damning indictment of "speed"—nemesis of the unthinking driver.

One of the most commendable of the many projects the staff at the Young Men's Christian Association has fostered for the benefit of the boys of the community this summer was the baseball bus trip to Pittsburgh today with 54 youngsters aboard, enthused over the prospects of seeing the Dodgers-Pirate game during the afternoon. This was expected to be one of the outstanding days of the season at Forbes Field with most of the members of the champion 1925 team on hand for a big anniversary celebration.

A school superintendent in New Jersey says every schoolroom should have a radio set. For sitting up exercises, undoubtedly.

If all men were single we wouldn't have any special occasion for lodge meetings.

Turnabout

Here And There

Don Finley, who operates a sports goods store in Times Square, was fishing at Chautauqua Lake Wednesday morning and came back with a muskellunge 45 inches long, weighing 25 pounds, and one of the best fish stories that has been brought to Warren in a long time. It seems that the "lunge" caught by Don had been hooked by some unfortunate fisherman some time before, and still carried a valuable plug in its side. Don says he recognized the plug as one made up specially for his store, and doubtless sold to a local customer. Later, when discussing the incident with Paul Yagge, well known local insurance salesman, Yagge identified the plug as one he lost when he hooked a large "lunge" in Chautauqua Lake, and without further argument or discussion the plug was returned to Paul. Incidentally, Finley caught a "lunge" a few days ago that measured 51 inches.

While on the subject of fishing the season for catching trout ended Tuesday, and those who know declare that it was one of the best in years. Since the opening in April conditions were better than usual and some fine catches were reported, although it is interesting to note that no entries were submitted for the prizes for Brook trout offered in the contest at Finley's store, where only trout of one pound or more caught. Winners of prizes offered for largest catches of other species were as follows: Brown, first (glass fly rod), Clyde Wroblewski, 26½ inches, 6 pounds, 7 ounces, second (automatic reel), N. W. Shawley, 26 inches, 6 pounds, 2 ounces, third (hunting knife), Laverne Micheau, 23½ inches, 5 pounds, 6 ounces. Rainbow, first (automatic reel) 18 inches, 2 pounds, 9 ounces, second (hunting knife), 17 inches, 2 pounds, 6 ounces, both caught by A. F. Dyke.

The State Council of Civil Defense has announced that the first of more than a quarter million Federal booklets, "Emergency Action to Save Lives" had been shipped out to County Directors of Civil Defense in Pennsylvania. "The booklet is not a first and course," Dr. Richard Gerstell, State Director of Civil Defense emphasizes. "It is what to do in an emergency, how to stop a person from bleeding to death, helping people with bad burns, doing the right thing with broken bones, shock, suffocation. How to handle injured people. To really be of some use to yourself and your family, take a Red Cross First Aid course as soon as you can. But this booklet is good for emergency actions for untrained persons to take. It will save lives, whether the injuries are from atomic attack, or from an unexpected accident in the home." The supply of booklets is being sent to all Pennsylvania counties and Federal government authorizes reproduction locally. Copies may be individually purchased from the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington 25, D. C., at five cents each.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Slick Maneuvers Take Teeth Out of Model 'Wetback' Bill

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The fight to get a good foreign farm labor bill through Congress goes back to last March, when Democratic Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico introduced what he called the "Farm Labor Stabilization Act." He intended it to apply to all immigrant labor—Mexican, Puerto Rican, British West Indian or Central American.

He wanted standards of employment conditions set up to protect them all and also to protect the rights of American labor. He would have made it a crime to employ an illegal alien. He would have followed most of the recommendations of the President's Commission on Migratory Labor, intended to correct abuses in the employment of these "wetbacks" as they are called.

To get around this model legislation, Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, introduced two bills. One provided for the importation of Mexican labor alone, under much less stringent conditions than the Chavez bill. The other made it a felony, subject to $2000 fine and five years imprisonment for hiring illegal immigrants.

This was a smart legislative trick. The excuse for separating the two measures was that the second was an immigration question, not agricultural. The intent was to have this second measure referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee—where it would be buried.

Senator Chavez was bitter over this procedure. He charged that the Senate was willing to spend more money on the hoof and mouth disease, to protect cattle, than to protect American citizens by keeping out illegal immigrants. "If your purpose is to save money," he demanded, "why don't you import Argentine beef?"

His own bill not even considered by Senator Ellender's Agricultural committee, Senator Chavez tried to strengthen the Ellender bill by a series of amendments. He was beaten on the first one, 59 to 12. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon got through an amendment to take away the benefit rights of any farmer employing wetbacks. Sen. Hubert Humphrey tried to get through an amendment providing for the right to search farms for wetbacks, but that was defeated.

So the weaker Ellender bill passed the Senate and went to the House, where it was sponsored by Texas Rep. W. R. Poage. Immediately an effort was begun to strike out the Douglas penalty amendment. This was done by a slick maneuver, worked out in advance by its opponents. With Rep. Albert Gore of Tennessee in the chair, a point of order was raised that the penalty amendment was an immigration question which should be referred to Judiciary committee. Giving a highly-involved legal opinion impromptu, Gore ruled it out.

INCIDENTALLY, it was noted that former Congressman Stephen Pace, now lobbyist for the Cotton Council, was on the floor of the House while this maneuver was put over. And as the bill passed, 250 to 139, the old rebel yell of Civil War days arose from the Democratic side.

In conference between Senate and House Agriculture committee members, to iron out differences between the Ellender and the Poage bills, the Douglas penalty amendment was knocked out. So no employer can now be penalized for hiring wetbacks.

Senator Anderson put over an amendment which he had been trying to get passed by consent for some time. It legalizes illegal Mexican aliens if they have been in the U. S. five years or more. This was done in spite of Representative Gore's fancy ruling in the House that immigration matters did not belong in the bill.

THE LIGHTS GO ON AGAIN—It's business almost as usual for this street peddler in Seoul, Korea, despite 13 months of war. His wares are crudely-made lamps, fashioned from old beer cans and other salvage materials. (NEA-Acme photo by Staff Photographer Hsiao Egochi)

Men In Service

Pvt. Robert L. Wenzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther F. Wenzel, Warren RD 2, has been promoted to the rank of private first class while fighting with the Second Division in Korea. A member of the 38th Field Artillery Battalion, he was inducted last October, trained at Camp Atterbury, Ind., and joined the Second Division in April. Pvt. Wenzel wears the Korean Service Medal with one bronze star.

A Seventh Infantry Division dispatch from Korea indicates that country's semi-tropical heat has more than the soldiers panning. Pvt. Raymond L. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Allen, Sheffield RD 2, a member of the 17th Infantry (Buffalo) mortar team, keeps loaded water buckets next to his mortars. The mechanical heat sufferers, he explains, will detonate their shells before they reach the base plate if the tube is sufficiently overheated. In a recent hot fight, Allen's mortar crew lobbed out 200 rounds in 20 minutes, a torrid pace for even the most tempered steel.

"We have to cool off the mortars to cool off the enemy," the private stated in an interview.

Donald H. Armitage, fireman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Armitage, Spring Creek RD 1, has been transferred from the U. S. Naval Supply Depot on Guam, in the Marianas, to the Naval Metallurgy School in San Diego, Calif. According to a special naval dispatch just received, Armitage served seven months at the NSD public works depot as a repair and maintenance welder prior to his transfer.

Orlando F. Manfrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Manfrey, 1120 Pennsylvania avenue, west, has been promoted to the rank of corporal at McGuire Air Force Base at Trenton, N. J., where he is presently assigned as a prison guard in the 52nd Air Police Squadron. The 52nd Fighter-Interceptor Wing, of which he is a part, is a key unit of the Eastern Air Defense Force. Entering the Air Force in August, 1950, he formerly attended St. Meinrad's Seminary, is a member of the Knights of Columbus and of the Sons of Italy Lodge.

INVITING PROGRAM AT WATTSBURG FAIR

Both the educational and entertainment features of the 67th annual Wattsburg fair, Tuesday to Saturday, August 28 to Sept. 1 inclusive, day and night, will be emphasized.

Draft horsemen from a wide area will participate in the horse pulling contests Tuesday afternoon and night. Light class pulls will take place in the afternoon, and the heavy team contests at night. Wattsburg Fair has earned a wide reputation among draft horse men for the quality of the contests presented on the opening day of the fair.

The Wattsburg Fair Association, H. E. Burnham, president and W.

H. Burrows, secretary, is providing the public with an interesting track schedule, replacing the automobile stunt driving of other years. These, according to Harold Hall, speed superintendent, include free for all running race, and two running races. Splendid music and a wide selection of specialty acts are featured day and night throughout the fair, closing Saturday, Sept. 1st at midnight.

LANDER

Landers, Aug. 2—Members of the Upper Allegheny Young Farmers' Association enjoyed a wiener roast and outing held at Fairbanks.

Mrs. Willard Hitchcock, Mrs. Myron Ludwick, Mrs. Fred Lindell, Mrs. Richard Lindell, Mrs.

Allan Lindell and daughter, with Mrs. Ronald Parker, Warren, Mrs. David Rice, Starbuck, and Mrs. Donald Gruber, Sugar Grove, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Myron Rogerson at Waterford. Gifts were presented Mrs. Rogerson's infant son.

Mrs. Hattie Northrup Gardner, Ridgway, was a recent guest of Mrs. Joseph Swanson.

Clair Putnam has returned home from Jamestown General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hayes and son, of Lakewood, were recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Putnam.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Hawk, Jr., and children, Wyandotte, Mich., Mrs. Helen Kays, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Kays and son, Jeffery, Warren, visited Mrs. Hazel Kays Sunday. Fred Putnam and sons have returned to Reynoldsville having been called here by his father's illness. Mrs. Putnam remained for the week.

COLE HILL

Mrs. Anna Gary, of Warren, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Bessie Rulander and sister Violet, of Davy Hill, were visitors at the Wentworth home last Saturday.

The Boy's 4-H Club held a wiener roast at the Camp's swimming hole Monday evening. The swimming hole is a new pond constructed by Van Guilder brothers of Corry, using a bulldozer for the job.

Favorite Recipes Will Be Available to Warren Women

Warren will be made available to housewives in the Warren area in a novel way by the Anderson's Baking Co., which makes Anderson's Super-Enriched Bread.

How these famous women solve their "What Will I Cook?" problem can be found on the ends of Anderson's bread. It was announced by Dean Anderson, general manager of Anderson's Baking Co.

Well-known women who will reveal their favorite recipes include Lily Pons, star of the Metropolitan Opera and Columbia Records; Carmel Snow, editor-in-chief, Harper's Bazaar; Fannie Hurst, America's distinguished novelist; Gladys Swarthout, America's beloved singing star; Louella Parsons, Hollywood commentator and motion picture editor, International News Service.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, honorary president, Girl Scouts, N. Y.; incomparable Hildegard, famous international star; Claudette Colbert, star of motion pictures; Ilka Chase, star, "Fashion Magic," author, "New York 22"; Dorothy Kilgallen, "Voice of Broadway" columnist.

Helen Hayes, president, American National Theater and Academy; Faye Emerson, sparkling television star; Hattie Carnegie, fashion creator; Nancy Craig, radio commentator, American Broadcasting Co.; Joan Crawford, star of motion pictures; and Maggie McNellis, star of radio and television.

Hildegard has an intriguing recipe called "Feasant Girl With a Veil," and Gladys Swarthout suggests "Date Bread Pudding."

Lily Pons lists her favorite as "Pizza a la Pons." Claudette Colbert brought forth "Apple Charlotte," "Clam Canape," "Vanilla Sauce" and "Avocado Spread" from her recipe file.

These, plus "Tropical Toast" by Mrs. Roosevelt, are samples of the dozens of different recipes that will be found daily on the ends of Anderson's bread.

Eight different recipes will appear each day on the fresh loaves available in local stores, according to Mr. Anderson. The appetizing suggestions of "leading ladies" of the stage, screen, opera, radio, television, literary and social world also help housewives economize on food budgets, Mr. Anderson added.

DAC Has Visit By its State Regent

Miss Harriette Eaton entertained members and friends of Ka-oagoo Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists, for the summer meeting at her home on Fifth avenue.

For devotions, Miss Anna G. Snyder read some appropriate selections. Members were much surprised at the unexpected visit in Warren during the week of Mrs. Edgar Hires, Pennsylvania DAC regent, who visited the Lillian Lcomb Hunter Memorial Library. Mrs. George Olmsted had just put a number of rare books in this library in memory of several deceased chapter members.

Mrs. Harry Granquist gave a brief outline of her trip across the state to attend the Eastern Pennsylvania Festival of descendants of the so-called Pennsylvania Dutch, a society interested in preserving the folk lore of the region. The August festival in Hershey will follow similar lines. Mrs. Olmsted, of Ludlow, was the only out of town member present. Guests were Mrs. Antoinette Brown, of Meadville, and Mrs. F. P. Kerwin, of Warren.

The conclude the interesting afternoon, all gathered around Miss Eaton's attractive flower-centered table for tea and a social hour.

BIBLE CONFERENCE AT CAMP DUHRING

Cole Hill, Aug. 2—The young people's Bible conference for this section, sponsored by the American Sunday School Union, will be held at Camp Duhring near Marsburg from August 6th to 13th. Rev. Howard Cartwright, missionary, will help conduct the sessions and reports he expects about 50 young people to be in attendance. This number will include several from this vicinity who have made reservations.

BIRTHDAY EVENT

Lander, Aug. 2—Mrs. Allan Lindell entertained 25 children and several of their mothers for a double birthday party which marked the anniversaries of her son, Charles, and her daughter, Carol. Games were enjoyed and ice cream and cake were served. The honored ones received many nice gifts from their guests, who came from Jamestown, Busti, Sugar Grove, Starbuck, Lander and vicinity.

MRS. RICHARD E. SMITH

A lovely mid-summer wedding was held at Epworth Methodist church Saturday, July 28, when Donna Lou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmore C. Nelson, 514 Prospect street, became the bride of Richard E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Smith, Sr., 34 Hemlock street.

The double ring ceremony, performed by Dr. H. H. Barr, was at 2:30 o'clock before an altar banked with white gladioli and palms. Traditional wedding music was played by Eleanor Swanson, and Donald Smith, soloist, sang "Because", "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white chiffon over taffeta with a lace bodice, styled with a high neckline, puffed sleeves and a hoop skirt. She wore lace mitts, and her fingertip veil fell from a pearl headband. The bridal bouquet was of white carnations and baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. John W. Larson, Pittsburgh, was matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaid was Miss Carol Hornstrom. Both wore identical gowns, the former in yellow net over taffeta and the latter in green. They had matching headbands and mitts, and carried colonial bouquets of green and yellow carnations.

The flower girl, Cecelia Smith, wore a white net dress, and carried a basket of white mixed flowers. Johnny Larson, Jr., Pittsburgh, was ring bearer. He was dressed in a gabardine suit with black bow tie and carried a heart-shaped white satin pillow with lace and ribbon streamers.

Groomsmen were Raymond Smith, Erie, best man for his brother, with Robert Nelson and Frank Smith, Jr., ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for 150 was held at the YWCA. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature

SLACK REUNION

The 12th annual reunion of the Slack family was held recently at the Sheffield American Legion Home, with 81 present. Those attending came from Alexandria, Va.; Enola, Butler, Jamestown, N. Y.; Hyattsville, Md.; Sugar Grove, Warren and Sheffield.

Everyone enjoyed a bountiful picnic dinner at one o'clock, after which a business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Edith Slack, and the following officers were elected for the year: Vice President, Isaac Slack; secretary, Elizabeth Hall; treasurer, Eva Levans; historian, Mary Abramson. After the business meeting, a cake walk was held to raise funds for a special purpose. The cake was baked by Mrs. Isaac Slack and won by Mrs. Eva Levans. Games and races were enjoyed by all.

At six o'clock, ice cream and pop were enjoyed. The ice cream was furnished by Merton Dayo, of Butler, and Charles Slack, of Enola.

VISITING DAY AT BETHESDA HOME

Lutheran parishioners and their friends are cordially invited to enjoy the annual Visiting Day at the Bethesda Home, Meadville, on Wednesday, August 15, when an offering will be received for the maintenance and upkeep of the home.

The program will begin at two o'clock and will feature an address by Dr. Ralph W. Loew, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran church in Buffalo; also a three-act operetta, "The Magic Beanstalk", presented by children of the home.

Illinois was the first state to pass a law (1911) to provide for the care of dependent, neglected, and delinquent children.

GERTSCH GATHERING

The 12th annual Gertsch reunion was held at Allen Park in Jamestown, with 126 persons present from Warren, Wilcox, West Hickory, Knox; Jamestown, Goshawanda, Lackawanna, Bladell, Buffalo, N. Y.; Waynesboro, Va.; Washington, D. C., and New Orleans, La.

Features of the day's program included a basket picnic and a business session in which the following officers were elected: President, William Schumann; vice president, Paul Dickerson; secretary, Anita Dickerson; treasurer, Anna Joseph; historian, Emma Fischer. Special music was provided by Margaret and Patty Stoddard and Buddy Norton.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cochran, of York, and Mrs. Freeman V. Giesbrecht, of Woodstock, Ill., who have been visiting friends and relatives in Warren for the past week, left for home this morning. They expect to stop en route at Wellsboro, where they will visit The Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania.

Frank Fago will leave tomorrow morning for a two-week vacation in Minneapolis and camping at some of the lakes in northern Minnesota.

Philip Benjamin, instructor in English at Allegheny College, has returned to Meadville after a brief visit with his sister, Mrs. N. D. Paterson, 422 Pennsylvania avenue, east.

Branstroms Giving Bridal Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Branstrom, Russell, will entertain relatives and friends in their home from two until five o'clock Saturday afternoon for a reception honoring the newlyweds, their daughter, Mary, and John Randinelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Randinelli, Irvine.

The bride-elect has been honored with a number of pre-nuptial affairs, the most recent having been given by Mrs. Robert Branstrom and Mrs. James Fleming.

Mrs. Branstrom entertained 13 guests for a grocery shower, with a pleasant evening of games and contests and prizes awarded to the honored guest, along with Gloria Bean and Lela Akaley. Refreshments were served to conclude the evening.

Mrs. Fleming's guests enjoyed an evening of visiting and refreshments and remembered the bride-to-be with many gifts for a variety shower.

GUILD HAS PICNIC

Russell, Aug. 2 — Thursday Evening Guild members enjoyed a picnic supper at the home of Mrs. Scott Phillips for their July gathering. Mrs. Marshall Peterson presided for the business session, when it was voted to assist the regular WSCS group in making articles for the bazaar in November. It was also decided to purchase books for the nursery in the church and Mrs. Chester Anderson was named to this assignment. Any persons willing to help in the nursery during Sunday morning church services were asked to contact Mrs. Floyd Lindquist and offer her services.

GARLAND

Mr. Nobles has been taken to the Warren General Hospital, having suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Karkoski of Pittsfield, was called to the home of her daughter and family because of the accident that befell her son-in-law Roman Leofsky and his son, Jimmie. They were riding on the tractor when something went wrong and they were unable to stop the machine, which after striking a deer fence, struck a tree, throwing both off. Mr. Leofsky and son are both in bed suffering from shock and bruises.

Miss Ella Mays who has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Long and Mrs. Carlson here, has gone to Detroit to visit friends.

The Catholic children in this vicinity are receiving instruction in their religion, meeting in the little chapel, and due to the large number of children they also meet in the community center. Nuns from out of town are assisting in the work.

FAMILY GATHERING

Russell, Aug. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Briggs entertained at their home with a pleasant picnic-gathering of the following: Mrs. Harriet Engle, Maderia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Engle and sons, Ted and Dennis, Pennington, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Ned Engle and daughter, Becky, Lebanon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Engle and daughters, Kathie and Susan, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Matilda Samuelson, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Briggs and family, Warren; and the Gerry Briggs family.

Mrs. Harriette Engle, who has been visiting at the T. M. Engle home in New Jersey, accompanied the Glen Engles home to Detroit for a visit.

FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Anthony Pellegrino, Sr., and Miss Angie Pellegrino, Sheffield, were hostesses at the American Legion Home at that place for a delightful shower party complimenting Miss Rose Pellegrino, soon to be a bride. Guests from Kane, Warren, Clarendon and Sheffield showered the bride-elect with many nice gifts and refreshments were served from a table attractively done in summer flowers.

Miss Pellegrino will become the bride of Ralph D'Agostine, Buffalo, N. Y., on Saturday, August 25, in St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church in Sheffield, observing open church for the nine o'clock ceremony.

WALLACE GREENE REUNION
Announcement calls attention to the annual Wallace Greene reunion to be held Sunday, August 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Smith, Spartansburg. Those attending are reminded to provide a tureen, sandwiches, or rolls and table service for the individual family.

AT GAGE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Gage, Russell, recently entertained 35 relatives and friends from Celoron, Jamestown, Frewsburg, Akaley, Russell and Fox Hill, for a pleasant evening spent in visiting and enjoyment of home movies, with refreshments served at the conclusion.

DORCAS CLASS

Dorcas Class members of First Lutheran church will hold their regular meeting in the parish house at eight o'clock this evening and a large turnout is hoped for.

1950--Golf Champion--1951

Mrs. W. O. Lawson successfully defended her 1950 Women's Golf Championship title at the Conewango Valley Country Club Wednesday, when she defeated Mrs. Sidney W. Blackman, 3-2, in the final matches. She had previously eliminated Mrs. Paul Fisher, Betty Jane Branch and Mrs. Homer Culbertson. Mrs. Lawson won her title in 1950 after she defeated Mrs. W. C. Fuelhart, 2-1.

The second flight was won by Mrs. Robert Walsh, when she eliminated her final opponent, Mrs. Lyle Knapp. Mrs. Stewart Beckley was the winner of the third flight, defeating Mrs. Follmer Yerg.

Consolation matches were won by Betty Jane Branch, Mrs. Henry Marymont and Mrs. Byron Knapp.

In the weekly play, a "Toss-out" Tournament, divisional honors went to Betty Jane Branch, Mrs. William Moore and Mrs. Joseph De-frees, who won the weekly lesson donated by Professional Charles Jones.

Mrs. W. O. Lawson shot a 92 for low gross for the field and low net honors were taken by Mrs. Gail Hamilton, Mrs. Homer Culbertson and Mrs. J. R. Sugerman.

A "Moats" tourney has been scheduled for August 8th.

The Warren golfers have been winning regularly in out of town matches. Mrs. Jack Hansen shot an 82 for low gross to place first at Titusville. At Bradford, Mrs. Fred Emhardt won a low net prize and special prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hugh Jamieson and to Guinevere Knapp.

"Kordion Kids" Are Featured At Clarendon; Queen Kay Is To Be Crowned This Evening

With a splendid performance by the members and several specialty numbers added to the program, the Kordion Kids won tremendous applause last evening when a large crowd attended the second night of the "Old Home Week" celebration being sponsored by the Clarendon Fire Department.

The big attraction tonight will be the crowning of Miss Kay Steele as Queen by Acting Burgess John Hickey, who is also president of the Clarendon Borough Council. Music by the newly-organized Clarendon Fire Department Band will open the evening's festivities at 7:15, with the crowning to take place later in the evening, after which the band concert will continue.

Queen Kay and the girls who are members of her court will receive a large number of attractive gifts tonight, provided through the firemen's "queen fund" and by the following: the Metzger-Wright Company, Darling Jewelry Store, James Jewelry, Jean Frocks, Inc., and Emil Ekey, florist.

Mrs. Glenn Engstrom, who is the Kordion Kids' instructor, acted as director last night, and a program was presented which won great favor. Patty d'Angelo did acrobatic stunts throughout the program, and there was an accordion duet by Jackie Hucklebone and Sandy

Here Are Half a Dozen Ways to Prevent Quarrels

ABOUT quarrels: Most married couples have them, but a wife can cut them to a minimum if she will conscientiously follow a few rules.

One. Be on guard against the early morning quarrel—the kind that starts because one of you is rushed, or tired, or worried or facing the prospect of a hard day. Just remember, he'll be gone in a few minutes, and hold your tongue that long. It will save a day of bitterness for you both, for the bad taste of a morning quarrel lasts throughout the day.

Two. Be willing to take occasional criticism from your husband, instead of letting every word of criticism be turned into a quarrel. You aren't perfect, you know, so don't try to defend yourself as though you were.

DON'T MAKE HIM FEEL INFERIOR

THREE. Never criticize your husband in front of others. That is almost sure to bring on a delayed-reaction fight. And let him know you expect the same kind of consideration in return.

Four. The minute you have calmed down after an argument, try to restore peace. It won't hurt to say you are sorry—even though you didn't start the unpleasantness.

Five. Watch out for danger signals. You can usually "feel" a quarrel before it actually starts. That's the time to get busy doing something else, bring up a pleasant subject, remember a funny incident and tell it or decide to get out of the house to do an errand. Anything until the charged atmosphere begins to clear.

Six. Ask yourself: "Is this matter really worth an argument?" you're sure it is—go ahead. But if you aren't—keep still.

Lander Girl Scout Troop Assists In Work at Cemetery

Lander, Aug. 2—The Intermediate Girl Scouts with their leader Mrs. Dale Skinner assisted the lower level committee of the cemetery society with work on the "over beds in the Foster cemetery" Tuesday afternoon.

Afterwards, the girls, with Mrs. Skinner, Mrs. Everett Bower and Mrs. Frank Callan, enjoyed swimming and a weiner roast at Fairbanks. This is their last meeting until Sept.

The Senior Girl Scouts under the supervision of their leader Mrs. Herbert Putnam are painting in the school cafeteria.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lindell entertained the anniversary 500 Club Saturday evening with five tables in play. Prizes for high scores went to Paul Rowland and Mrs. Homer Lindell, consolations to Mrs. White and Mrs. Ira Stufflebeam. The traveling prize went to Mrs. Arvid Gruber and Ira Stufflebeam. The hostess served lunch. The next meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stanton.

Mrs. Gustav Erickson entertained the Missionary Circle Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Callan presided and conducted devotions.

It was voted to give $10 to the fund for painting of the church and community house, also to have a bake sale and sale of jelly or jam. Mrs. Viola Firth and Mrs. Everett Bower were named flower committee. Mrs. Callan had charge of the program and read several articles.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Hazel Kays.

Robert Bacchetti of Buffalo, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rowland. Mrs. Bacchetti and son, Bobbie, returned with him after spending the week here. On Sunday they all attended the Wenzel reunion at Island Park, Townsville, and were accompanied by Mrs. Albert Pierce of Russell, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sarves and daughter of Sugar Grove, Henry Knapp and sons of Thompson Hill.

was reached at a closed conference held after both the senate and house adjourned yesterday until next Monday.

The house passed and sent to the senate administration bills increasing benefits for unemployment and disabled workers in Pennsylvania after Republican spokesman described the program as "monumental."

The session's biggest surprise came yesterday with submission in both branches of a compromise oleomargarine bill, with back of agriculture committees in both house and senate.

The measure was promptly approved by the house agriculture committee, putting it in position for a vote there next week. Chairman George B. Scarlett (R-Chest-er) of the senate agriculture committee, promised similar action by his group next week.

The measure would permit sale of yellow margarine in one-pound lots at stores for home consumption only. The present ban on its use in hotels or restaurants would be continued.

Previous margarine bills had been killed by both house and senate committees.

Red negotiators subsequently gave in.

Pyongyang said the U. N. delegation was insisting on a demarcation line extending from Kosong on the eastern coast to the eastern tip of the Ongjin peninsula on the western coast.

Kosong is 47 miles north of the 38th parallel. The Ongjin peninsula starts at the parallel.

The proposed Allied defense line never has been publicly announced in precise detail.

House Liquor Bills Studied in Senate

Harrisburg, Aug. 2—(P)—Sen. A. H. Letzler (R-Indiana) said today the decision on a package of house liquor law bills will be left entirely to individual members of the senate law and order committee.

Letzler, who heads the committee, said he could not predict what would happen to the measure altering state liquor laws in a number of ways.

The committee chairman said he could offer no opinion on other liquor bills before the committee.

The bills would:

Permit taprooms to sell bottled liquor for home consumption after the state liquor stores close at 9 p. m.

Permit clubs not possessing licenses to purchase those held by retail licensees in areas where quotas already are filled.

Allow the state liquor control board to insert a handling charge on the sales price of alcoholic beverages.

Prohibit the cashing of relief checks in licensed establishments.

Allow licenses to appeal to county courts from liquor control board rulings.

Jackson Run Road Bids Advertised

The Pennsylvania State Highways Department announced in Harrisburg today that bids will be opened on August 17 for the construction of 5.07 miles of state road on Route 69 in Conewango and Farmington townships.

Advertising for bids in July resulted in only two bids being received, each being considered too high and they were rejected.

The project calls for the widening of the road from 16 to 20 feet in its construction from North Warren to the old creamery at the end of the macadam road where the concrete stretch starts and runs into Chandler's Valley. The contract also calls for the construction of four bridges, one concrete bridge and one eye-beam bridge near the Harry Logan farm, one eye beam bridge at the foot of Miller Hill, and one eye-beam bridge near the Harry Conarro property. The alignment of the road is to be straightened considerably.

TWO MEET DEATH IN CRASH ON TURNPIKE

Bedford, Aug. 2—(P)—An auto crashed and overturned three times on the Pennsylvania turnpike at nearby Everett yesterday, killing Bernard Adler, 23, of Pittsburgh and Margaret E. Lohse, 22, of Attleboro, Mass.

A third passenger in the auto, Odessa Sandlin, 49, of Terre Haute, Ind., suffered cuts, bruises and shock. Police said the machine struck a concrete center divider.

THE MARKETS

New York, Aug. 2—(P)—A general recovery movement continued today in the stock market on top of yesterday's substantial rise. Gains among the more active issues ran to a little more than $2 a share. Losses were held to a few cents as a general rule. American Cyanamid broke out on the upside with a $4 spurt in fairly active trading. Motors started ahead for the first time in days. Two places of news affected that section. Chrysler was prompt in indicating it wanted to increase prices under new OPS regulations, and Packard reported first half earnings of $4,810,000 as against a loss of $736,000 a year ago. Also showing good progress were rails, oils, rubbers, metal mining issues, chemicals, and utilities. Steels, which provided leadership in yesterday's advance, were neglected today and moved in a narrow range of gains and losses.

Kane Man Facing Auto Theft Charge

Donald P. Ewings, 22, of Kane, is in Warren county jail in default of $1,000 bail, charged with larceny of an automobile owned by Carl Larson, of Sheffield, about midnight last Saturday. Ewings was brought here by Deputy Sheriff Sandy Secor late yesterday afternoon and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edwin S. Anderson, of Sheffield, where he entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

Ewings was apprehended by Kane police when they were looking for him in connection with a bad check charge. A check with Chief of Police Robert Cariburg, of Sheffield, led to the automobile larceny charge.

Ewings was arrested by the local sheriff's office last December in connection with a tavern and house burglary in Sheffield. At that time, he was sent to Warren State Hospital from December until June for observation and later paroled. He had been out of custody only a few weeks before getting into his present trouble.

Crap Game Charge Denied by McCarthy

Columbus, O., Aug. 2—P.—Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) last night denied testimony at a bankruptcy hearing here that he dropped $5,500 to a Columbus man in a crap game two years ago, and failed to pay up.

"I don't recall when I have ever played crap, and I wouldn't have had that much money anyway," McCarthy said, when reached by telephone at his Washington residence.

Bob Byers, Sr., an Ohio real estate operator and builder, testified yesterday at his $500,000 bankruptcy hearing that the Wisconsin senator lost $5,500 to his son, Bob Byers, Jr., at a game during a party in a Columbus Hotel (Seneca).

"He (McCarthy) never paid it," the elder Byers testified. "I think my son is still waiting for his money."

Bob Byers, Jr., was not available for comment.

From Bloomers to Bikinis

Time, and bathing suits, marched on leading to Norma Smallwood, Miss America of 1926, who looked like this (left) as she won her title. She was the first Miss America to wear a form-fitting suit. Among the also-rans to Norma Smallwood in 1926 was Miss Dallas, Rosebud Blondell. She went on to fame as Joan Blondell, and her suit in 1926 is the first to look almost like a present-day model. But there was still the stripe tad to get through before present-day models could emerge triumphant. Here, in 1927, is the very popular striped top, with belt and solid color trunks. Everybody wore it. Bathing belles in last picture show how the world was divided, in 1928, between the solid color suit and the one with a fancy top. It took a few years, but finally the solid one won out. Nobody mourns for the loser.

Plane Standing By To Carry Mission To Iran for Talks

London, Aug. 2—(P)—The British government today ordered a special plane to stand by to carry a cabinet mission to Iran for oil talks—and then postponed the flight.

A spokesman for Richard R. Stokes, lord privy seal and head of the mission, refused to say whether there had been a hitch in the projected negotiations.

The four-engined BOAC (British Overseas Airways Corporation) plane was taxied back to its hangar. BOAC officials said they had received no explanation for the postponement.

The foreign office evidently was awaiting clarification from Iran on one or two points concerning the proposed talks.

Yesterday the cabinet studied a report from U. S. trouble shooter W. Averell Harriman then sent off a reply to Iran. A foreign office spokesman said an answer from Iran is expected probably today. He indicated Iran's reply would clinch Britain's decision whether to send the mission.

In Tehran earlier today sources close to Harriman said Richard Stokes lord privy seal, probably would arrive in the Iranian capital within 24 hours to work out details. These sources said negotiations on Iran's nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian oil company's $1,400,000,000 (B) holdings would begin Sunday or Monday.

DR. BARR TO SPEAK AT FIRST METHODIST

Dr. H. H. Barr of Warren, will deliver the memorial address Saturday afternoon at the reunion held by the Northwestern Pennsylvania Raftsmen's Association at Cook's Forest. This will be the third year that Dr. Barr has delivered the address for the service which honors those who have passed away in the last year.

He came to Allegheny College in 1949 and for the past year has also served as chaplain and religious counselor in charge of religious emphasis on the campus.

This fall, he will leave the Meadville college to become a member of the faculty of Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston, Ill.

His sermon here Sunday morning will be broadcast over WVAE at 11 a. m., and Monroe Marshall will be the soloist, with J. Richard Pratt at the organ.

LOCAL WOMEN PLAY AT PENNHILLS CLUB

Nine women golfers from the Conewango Country club competed in the Ladies' Open Day golf tournament at the Pennhills club in Minard Run Wednesday, won by Mrs. Katherine Fitzpatrick of the Elkdale Country Club, Salamanca, who had a low gross of 93 in winning the day's top honors.

Mrs. F. W. Emhardt of the Warren club, won the low net for the local women with 113-29-34.

Mrs. Hugh Jamieson, of Warren, won a special prize for score on the 14th hole, and Miss Guinevere Knapp had high gross.

FILM DISTRIBUTORS SUE MERCER OWNERS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 2—P.—Four New York film distributing companies are suing two Mercer county theatre owners for more than $3,000 damages on charges they made false reports of gross admission receipts.

Defendants are John and Louis Lambros, owners of the Capital and Colonial theatres in Farrell. The suit was filed in federal district court by 20th Century-Fox, Loew's, Paramount, and Warner Brothers.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. James Hovey have returned to Pittsfield, Mass., after a visit at the home of Mrs. Hovey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mack, Follett Run road.

PUSH YOUR RIVAL IF YOU WANT TO WIN
By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
You can't sit still in a championship tournament and have points drop into your lap. When you get the right sort of hand you must try to push the opponents around a bit. If they fall down, you get a fine score. If they step aside, you probably find yourself on the floor with no points at all.
In last year's tournament there was a great deal of jockeying for unusual results, just as there is in the tournament now being held in Washington. One of the best bits of hornswoggling occurred in the hand shown today.

Dave Warner, of Philadelphia, held the South cards. He knew he had a miserable hand but hoped to get good results by playing at some low diamond contract. For that purpose he made a psychic bid and then got on his bicycle.
South's spade overall was promptly doubled, exactly as he had expected. If he had then immediately bid the diamonds, the opponents might have seen the trap and avoided it. Hence he first went to one no-trump.

West promptly doubled one no-trump also—and who can blame him? Now the time was ripe for Warner to mention the diamonds.
West quite properly passed. He had already shown a good hand and good spades. He didn't have good diamonds, so he could afford to pass and hear what his partner had to say.
East bit and never felt the hook. He should have known that his partner was short in diamonds, since he had failed to double. He himself had only three diamonds,

Pleasant Twp. Firemen Sponsor Circus

Intrepid aerial artists, equilibrist and gymnasts who scoff at the laws of gravity and dauntlessly dare disaster. . . animals subjugated by kindness and patience to the will of men. . . lovely, spangled ladies and joyful jesting clowns. . . riotous colors. . . pulse-quicken music. . . peacocks. . . popcorn. . . cotton candy.

These are some of the perennial thrills of Circus Day, and all of them are still found at the great Hagen Bros. Circus which comes to south side show grounds Tuesday, August 7, under the direct sponsorship of the Pleasant Township Volunteer Fire Department.

The Great Hagen Brothers Circus promises new acts, new wardrobes, and the finest of circus features in their 1951 program.

Heading the list of famous names on the circus roster are such acts as: Captain Christy, America's newest animal trainer, with his cage of lions; Miss Lalala, premiere aerial artist; the International - famous Leo and Josephine Gasca, tight wire walkers; the Aerial Ballet of Beautiful girls at the top of the arena; Clark's Amine Comedians; the Gordens, Double Trapeze Act; a group of the funniest clowns, entour, headed by the well known comedian, Speed Hart, an equestrian display of Shetland ponies, as well as the Hagen Brothers Circus Black and White Liberty Horses.

These are just a few of the many features presented in the two hour performance of Hagen Brothers Circus, and tickets may be purchased in advance through members of the Pleasant Township Volunteer Fire Department, or at Mack's News Stand.

Training Cruise Will Be In Charge Of Warren Officer

Lt. (jg) James C. Hengst, engineering instructor at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center in Jamestown, N. Y., will be commanding officer of the Division-sponsored cruise on the Great Lakes aboard the PC-1233, anchored at Buffalo, N. Y.

Leaving August 12, Mr. Hengst will be accompanied by the following Warren county men: Meredith R. Phelps, Robert C. Buchanan, John B. Updegraff, II, all of Warren, and Owen B. Carlberg, Sheffield.

The group, which numbers around 30 men, will leave Jamestown by train for Buffalo, reporting on board ship with duffle bags and gear and will be assigned to quarters.

Duties assigned the men will be according to the various rates for which they have been trained, including radio, electronics, engineering, quartermaster, etc.

Each man will carry along his record from the Jamestown Center and will have the opportunity of putting to practical use many classroom theories. Through this, the Reservists will be aided in their advancements and will be more experienced to meet the challenge of the Federal Inspection through which the Unit hopes to earn the "James V. Forrestal Trophy", given to the top ranking Division in the United States.

The Girl Next Door

By Peggy Gaddis

Chapter 16

EDITH had picked up the telephone and given the number of the house next door, across the lawn and through the unclipped hedge. She waited and then a man's voice said, "Hello!"

It was Peter's voice, and Edith recognized it instantly. She felt a vague sinking of her heart, but she answered him promptly.

"Hello, Peter. Is Mrs. Eldon there?" "This is Edith Drummond."

"Oh, how are you, Mrs. Drummond? Just a minute and I'll call Marcia."

A little stab of pain at her heart. Hello, Peter, who might be terribly hurt. Betsy was so completely in love with Peter.

SHE made herself go back to the two women who were waiting in the garden, carrying three bottles of Coca-Cola and three glasses and a plate of cookies on a tray, as an excuse for her long absence.

"Is she coming over?" asked Anne, reaching for a cookie.

"No, she's got guests," answered Edith.

and Betsy called out eagerly, "Hello, Peter! Want a lift? I'm going your way."

"Hi, scrap. Sure it won't take you out of your way?" said Peter. He turned his face toward Betsy, and Edith could have wept at the radiant look in the girl's eyes. It was a look that said Betsy's young heart bare for anyone to see its small secret, which was, in reality, a secret to no one but Peter.

"How could it be?" Betsy was saying now. "I just said I was going your way. Hello, Gus—want to ride? He's a sucker for a car," she added proudly, as Gus, leaning lightly against Peter's knees, stepped him toward the car.

The rest of the afternoon moved with a jerkiness that was completely foreign to the three friends, and Edith was secretly relieved when Anne decided it was time to leave.

She didn't know quite how long she stood there, but at last she heard footsteps coming toward her, and looked up. A tall young man in slacks and a shirt with an open collar, the sleeves turned back to his elbows, came toward her. Beside him paced a beautiful dog. It was, of course, Peter Marshall and the dog, Gus.

"Hello, Peter," Edith made her voice sound warm and friendly.

"Oh, hello, Mrs. Drummond," said Peter, and paused.

"Your dog's a beauty, Peter," said Edith, embarrassed because she could think of nothing less than to say.

"Oh, Gus is quite a pooch," answered Peter. "Betsy was a sweetheart to get him for me."

"I suppose Betsy feels that Gus would be happier if you made use of his training," Edith was uncomfortably aware that there was a faint edge to her voice.

She saw the taut line about Peter's mouth, as he said curtly, "It's not much of a pup, hauling a guy around. I like it better this way, and I'm sure Gus does, too."

A car sizzled to the curb with a screaming of tortured brakes.

and Betsy called out eagerly, "Hello, Peter! Want a lift? I'm going your way."

"Hi, scrap. Sure it won't take you out of your way?" said Peter. He turned his face toward Betsy, and Edith could have wept at the radiant look in the girl's eyes. It was a look that said Betsy's young heart bare for anyone to see its small secret, which was, in reality, a secret to no one but Peter.

"How could it be?" Betsy was saying now. "I just said I was going your way. Hello, Gus—want to ride? He's a sucker for a car," she added proudly, as Gus, leaning lightly against Peter's knees, stepped him toward the car.

"Well, stop shoving, darn you!" Peter ordered the dog. "I'm coming."

After she had put the telephone down, Edith stood for a moment, just staring at it, thinking. Peter had seemed so completely at home. He had answered the telephone; he had shared laughter with Marcia, and the telephone had given no indication of other voices. Yet Marcia had said, "Some people are here." Edith knew instinctively that there was no one there but Peter, and tried to deny the used mostly for submarine patrol during time of emergencies. While on board ship, Unit men will be put through battle drills, abandon ship drills, damage control training and gunnery practice.

Don't be late for supper, Betsy, Esther's making strawberry shortcake," said Edith.

Betsy turned to Peter. "Stay for supper, Peter," she begged. "Esther makes the best shortcake in the world!"

Peter laughed. "Thanks, I'd like to, only I promised Mother and Callie I'd be home for supper. The rumor going the rounds that Callie's making shortcake, too. She'd put arsenic in my soup if I failed to show up."

"Some other time, then, eh, Peter?" said Betsy.

"Any time, Peter. We're always glad to have you," Edith echoed her day-told hospitality.

"Thanks, that's swell of you," said Peter.

RENT INCREASES FOR ALLEGHENY TENANTS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 2.—(P)—The area rent control director today handed out application forms for rent increases which could affect some 350,000 tenants in the nine-county Pittsburgh area.

Director C. Howard McPeak said the new economic controls signed into law by President Truman opens the door for landlords to ask rent increases up to 20 per cent on their properties.

The Pittsburgh rent area embraces Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Fayette, Greene, Washington, Lawrence and Westmoreland counties.

The Military Academy at West Point had only 10 cadets when it was opened, July 4, 1802.

The attorney general was not a member of the president's cabinet until 1814.

Sheffield Library Announces Revision Of Lending Plan

Sheffield, July 2.—Revision of the book-lending system in the Sheffield township library was made at a recent board meeting conducted at the library.

Persons using the library facilities are being asked to re-register and young persons under 18 years of age must have their parents sign their card.

Many of the older fiction books are being discarded to make room for new books being received by the library.

The story hour for second, third and fourth graders which was conducted last winter will be resumed again in September with Mrs. Robert Moore and Mrs. Rudy Nelson to select readers and announce the time for the story hour.

Trustees of the Sheffield Cemetery Association have learned with great distress that Sheffield's youth are breaking flower pots placed at the cemetery. It is hoped that this destruction will be stopped immediately before further action has to be taken.

The annual Loleta reunion will be held Sunday, August 5, at Loleta park with all former residents urged to attend.

The road from Marienville to Loleta has been improved.

Business of importance to be discussed at this reunion includes a decision to be made whether a reunion will be conducted next year or not.

The Rev. Hans Pearson, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church, was guest speaker at this week's Sheffield Rotary club luncheon-meeting. He spoke on time computation through the centuries.

BOWLING along the road that brief mile to Peter's home. Betsy wished she could think of some way to prolong the drive.

"Marcia's a grand person, isn't she?"

"Wonderful." The tone of Peter's voice made the word a paean of praise. In fact, it was said with such simple conviction, such sincerity, that Betsy blinked a little.

But the look that flashed across Peter's face was the most cruel blow she had ever received. It was one of acute relief. Peter was glad she was going to marry Bo!

"Bo Norris, eh?" he was saying now. "Well, that's great, Betsy. Bo's a grand guy! Congratulations. I'll send you a set of solid silver pickleforks for your wedding present."

"And I'll take good care of them, and send them back to you when you and Marcia get married," Betsy said through her teeth.

out of the car, Gus pressed against him, and Peter, in a moment of rare annoyance with the dog, said sharply, "Shut it, stop shoving me!"

"Stop shouting at him!" Betsy blazed. "Gus has been trained to be of service to the one he loves—and that happens to be you! If you weren't so pig-headed and stubborn, you'd have sense enough to know that love likes to serve."

With that parting shot, Betsy sent the car rattling off down the street, so blinded by tears that she could scarcely see how to drive.

"I'm afraid you'll keep 'em for life, then, Betsy. For the Lord's sake, do you suppose I'd ask any woman to share the sort of life I lead?" he burst out savagely.

"She'd like it—if she loved you."

"But Marcia's not in love with me."

"No, I suppose not," Betsy agreed with perfect sincerity.

"But she'll marry you like a flash if you want her to."

"That's enough!" snapped Peter. Betsy protested with some heat. "Marcia's ambitious. She's—well, she's glamorous and all that, but she's practical, too. She hasn't any money, and she needs a lot of it to go on studying to be a great singer."

Suddenly Peter laughed. It wasn't a very pleasant laugh, and his face looked tired.

"Betsy, my sweet," he said dryly, "we're a couple of fools. Here we sit arguing and throwing brick-bats at each other, and all because of a woman who would laugh her head off if she so much as suspected I'm in love with her."

"Then you are in love with her?"

Peter nodded. "Now go ahead and laugh."

"I'm laughing fit to hull," she said at last, in a voice so low that Peter could scarcely distinguish the words.

"Betsy!" Pete called out. "Wait a minute!"

He had taken a hasty step toward the sound of the car. That But he had taken a hasty step toward the sound of the car. That But he had taken a hasty step toward the sound of the car. That

"The Voice of Experience" he chided her, and tried to match her attempt at flippancy. "You certainly make being in love sound like a wonderful experience."

"Being in love is ghastly, and I hate it. I wish I could stop. That's the plain, unadorned, concentrated devilishness of it—you can't stop."

Peter looked startled and sorry. Betsy looked at him. "I've had years of experience," she told Peter after a moment. "I've been in love since I was twelve!"

Peter looked slightly annoyed. "You don't know the first thing about love."

"Bo Norris thinks I'm grown up enough to marry him, and maybe I will!" she announced with a calmness that surprised her.

O.P.S. Will Go To Court Over Milk

The federal Office of Price Stabilization enforcement branch says it is continuing investigation of the western Pennsylvania milk price situation before seeking a federal court order to roll back the retail prices.

National OPS Enforcement Director Edward P. Morgan said OPS attorneys are gathering information to sustain an OPS appeal for a preliminary restraining order. "On the basis of present facts," he said, the enforcement branch expects to proceed with the injunction request. The case will have to be cleared by the justice department, before a court order is asked, he said.

The OPS, denying approval of milk price increases which the State Milk Control Commission put into effect July 17 in the Pittsburgh, Erie and Johnstown-Altoona marketing areas, ordered the commission to reinstate the pre-July 17 retail pricing orders. That would put the price of standard-grade, home-delivered milk in the Meadville area back down a penny to 22 cents a quart. The control commission has announced it is standing pat on its price-increase orders.

You Can Shine in the Rain

DULL DAYS no longer mean dull clothes, according to a British rainwear stylist, Paul Blanche Ltd., who has recently shown his latest models in the leading U.S. cities. Pictured are two of them in Zyl-con-ette, a mixture of nylon and rayon claimed to retain its shower-proof qualities after dry cleaning. Left: A style for cocktails or evening in white, black-lined Satina. The beret is from the same fabric and the sleeves can be pushed up to elbow length. Right: Also in Satina, a gold coat with medieval sleeves and pointed collar.

W P L REPORTING

Have you read any good maps lately? Some of the most engrossing material in the library is to be found in the various types of maps on file. All sorts of information—such as natural resources, soil classification, population, altitude, temperature, storm tracks, earthquake regions, and so forth—can be found in maps.

Bartholomew's ADVANCED ATLAS OF MODERN GEOGRAPHY contains facts about every region in the world as well as a geography of the heavens and of the ocean. The maps in this book are clear and colorful, indicating mountain ranges, international boundaries, rivers and towns. There are also maps of climatic regions, the length of growing seasons, routes of commerce.

The Westminster HISTORICAL ATLAS TO THE BIBLE contains quite a bit of text and a very different type of map. These maps indicate the world as it was during Biblical times as well as modern maps of excavations in the Holy Land. Included are maps of the journeys of Paul, Palestine during the ministry of Jesus, Palestine under various rulers, the Assyrian empire in Isaiah's time, the world of the patriarchs and many other maps of historical Biblical interest.

There are maps of local interest, too, published by the U. S. Superintendent of Documents and the State of Pennsylvania. Most of these are topographical, indicating oil wells, petroleum regions as well as other natural resources such as coal, water and minerals.

The county atlases are fun to read, too. The HISTORICAL ATLAS OF WARREN COUNTY was published in 1878 and it contains maps of every town, village and crossroads community in the county, as it was in 1871. There are pictures of various homes and the maps also indicate the names of the owners of almost every lot in the county.

There are commercial maps, automobile maps, waterways maps and many other kinds. If the current novel has failed you and you would like to trade the eternal triangle for the eternal hills, come in to the Warren Public Library and do a little map exploring.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

SIMPLICITY should be the keynote for a summer buffet or TV party. For beverages, choose carbonated ones to serve with the meal. Thoroughly chilled to insure maximum carbonation, they always add zest and refreshment.

For the main course, serve "franks in a ring." They can be prepared ahead of time. A tangy accompaniment is something new—Tomato Lemon-Lime Aspic.

Franks in a Ring
(Serves 6-8)

Twelve frankfurters, 1 cup flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains white pepper, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoon milk.

Cut frankfurters in half. Sift flour, baking powder and seasonings together. Cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture has texture of coarse corn meal. Add milk and blend.

Place dough on floured board and roll out to ¼-inch thickness. Cut into 1-inch strips about 3 inches long. Wrap dough around the middle of frankfurters. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once.

Notes: If frankfurters are to be prepared for baking in advance spread butter around dough to prevent drying out. Store in refrigerator until needed.

Tomato Lemon-Lime Aspic
(Serves 8)

One and one-half cups tomato juice, 2 crushed bay leaves, 1½ tablespoons gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 teaspoon celery salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon onion juice, ½ cup cubed green pepper, 1 cup lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled.

Simmer tomato juice and bay leaf for 5 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Soften gelatin in cold water. Add tomato juice and seasonings to gelatin. Cool. Slowly add chilled carbonated beverage and green pepper.

Rinse 6 molds with cold water and fill with aspic. Chill until set. Garnish with green pepper rings and serve on crisp lettuce.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapes, French toast, butter or fortified margarine, syrup, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Cheese omelet, buttered peas, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, tea, milk.

TV OR PORCH PARTY: "Franks in a ring, potato chips, olives, tomato lemon-lime aspic, hot rolls, butter or fortified margarine, chilled carbonated drinks, coffee.

National Vegetable Week Is Observed By State Officials

Harrisburg—All seasonal vegetables grown on Pennsylvania commercial truck farms and in farm gardens for fresh market and home canning will be in heavy production during National Vegetable Week, Aug. 5 through 11, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

More sweet corn, tomatoes, snap beans and cucumbers will be available this year than last, according to a recent federal-state survey.

Acres for virtually every vegetable have been increased by commercial growers as their contribution toward greater food reserves for the national emergency, the department said.

Observation of Vegetable Week in Pennsylvania is being sponsored by the State Vegetable Growers' Association. A feature of the week will be the annual summer marketing conference staged at Hershey by the Pennsylvania Chain Store Council, in which representatives of the vegetable association, potato growers and other farm organizations will participate.

When Gov. John S. Fine recently issued the following statement on Vegetable Week it received the hearty endorsement of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association:

"The health and welfare of the nation is dependent upon full food production," said Gov. Fine.

"It is essential that no food be wasted. Throughout the length and breadth of Pennsylvania, high quality food products are grown in abundance.

"Among those foods essential to health are fresh vegetables which are now in peak production. They are a health-giving food, rich in vitamins and body-building essentials. Within our Commonwealth the growing of vegetables is a major agricultural industry. There are nearly 3,000 large commercial vegetable farms that last year produced almost 800 million dollars. Growers have increased their acreages this year to do their share in meeting emergency food requirements.

"National Vegetable Week will be observed in Pennsylvania Aug. 5 to 11. I urge active participation of our citizens in that observance."

PIPE LINE CO. PROJECT

Corry Journal: Construction is under way today on two new homes, an 84 by 48-foot maintenance warehouse and a six-car garage at the Ravelin Hill pumping station of the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company. Under the direction of J. E. Passon, superintendent for the Red Eagle Corp. of Columbus, O., a crew of 35 workmen is pushing the project to completion. Ravelin Hill, located about one and one-half miles south and one-half mile east of French Creek, is the site of a pumping station for the transcontinental natural gas pipeline which was constructed through that district last year. Mr. Passon said today it is hoped to have two dwelling units completed and occupied by the Findley Lake area pipeline superintendent and the maintenance superintendent before November 1.

NO TIME TO LOAF—The five returning lettermen who will form the nucleus for the 1951 edition of the Warren High School football squad haven't had much time to loaf during the summer vacation. Dean Vesling and Toby Shea (upper left), two Clarendon boys, worked for several weeks with the State Highway Department crew and then switched to pipeline work between Clarendon and Saybrook for the Quaker City Oil Co. They were caught by the Times-Mirror photographer when they knocked off work for lunch. Vesling, a senior, is six foot one and weighs 150 pounds. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vesling. Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Shea, is a junior. He tips the scales at 162 pounds and is five feet 11½ inches tall. Vesling played left half last year, and Shea was a fullback.

Chuck Conaway (upper right) was center on last year's squad. He weighs 185 pounds and is six feet 4½ inches tall. Chuck, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Conaway, of 208

Conewango avenue, was working with a Pennsylvania Gas Company line crew until he ran into a patch of poison ivy. However, he expects to be ready to take his place with the squad when practice drills open on Monday, August 20.

One of the biggest boys on the squad is Ben Patrick (lower left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael G. Patrick, of Warren R. D. 3. He is working as a "sticker" at the Warren Car Company at Starbrick. The Times-Mirror photographer caught him just as he caught a hot rivet in a metal can while working on the side of a coal hopper car. Ben is six foot three and weighs 190 pounds. He was an end on last year's squad.

Fifth letterman is George Scalise (lower right), a senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Natale Scalise, 119 North South street. He is shown here at work at the Pennzoil Service Station at Pennsylvania avenue and Market street. George was quarterback on last year's squad. He weighs 157 pounds and stands five feet 8½ inches.

Floridin Company Notches 4-3 Win In Sunset Circuit

Floridin Company shaded the Sons of Italy, 4-3, in a tight Sunset Baseball League game played last night at Jackson field.

Carl Falvo, on the mound for Floridin, and Bill Weidert, pitching for the Sons of Italy, were locked in a close duel until the seventh when knocked out of the box.

Floridin drew first blood in the first frame when Beckenbaugh singled, went to second on Vesling's walk and scored on Irwin's single. In the fourth stanza, Floridin got their second marker when Reed walked, stole second and scored on a two-base wallop by Falvo.

Sons of Italy scored their initial run in the fifth. Shields was safe after the catcher dropped the third strike. Castagnino walked and both runners were advanced by Weidert's sacrifice. Shields then scored on Campana's fly. Sons of Italy knotted the count in the sixth inning when Ritchie walked, went to second on Smith's sacrifice, and hurried home on Bearfield's single.

Colosimo, first man up for Floridin in the top half of the final inning, swatted a double. Weidert left the mound, with Dis Hines taking over. Cummings singled to score Colosimo. Beckenbaugh grounded out. Vesling was safe at first and took second on a wild pitch, with Cummings scoring. Irwin and Foley walked. Hines then settled down and retired the side, but the damage already had been done.

In the last of the seventh frame, Hines and Castagnino singled. Both runners advanced when Weidert grounded out. Bonavita, running for Hines, scored on a bobbie by Cummings. Falvo then went to the showers with Vesling taking over the mound. Vesling nailed Castagnino at the plate on Ritchie's force play, and then struck out Smith to end the game.

Joe Louis Wins Over Argentinian

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—Joe Louis, decisive winner over Cesar Brion of the Argentine in a furious 10-round battle last night, expressed keen disappointment today over circumstances which may keep him from a title fight for possibly a year.

The former champion, informed by the Associated Press of the agreement between title holder Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles to postpone their championship rematch until next year, said he had not given up hope of regaining the crown.

A crowd of approximately 12,000 paid $66,525 to see Louis batter the game South American all over the ring in the closing rounds.

Brion stood up under punishment that would have flattened many a fighter. He was groggy from the seventh through the tenth. His face was puffed and blood flowed from cuts on the side of each eye.

It was Louis' second 10-round win over Brion. This one was far more decisive than their melee in Chicago last November.

Jackson and Ruth Only Two Greats Who Hit Exactly Alike

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Those who saw him consider Joe Jackson the greatest natural hitter.

As a kid pitcher, Babe Ruth saw Shoeless Joe Jackson, so admired his swing that he copied it.

Nature had more than considerable to do with the peculiar stance and power of Jackson and Ruth. They were pigeon-toed, so became pigeon-toed batters.

Jackson and Ruth, left-hand batters, stood pretty close to the plate with their left toes facing it and the right toes turned in and pointing to the far right-hand corner. The hands were way down at the end of the bat. They gave it all they had in the only way they knew.

Ruth, the pitcher, wasn't supposed to hit, anyway, so swung from his heels. The Bam first broke the home-run record with 29 for the Red Sox in 1919, the last year in which he took his turn as a pitcher before Ed Barrow switched him to the outfield.

Jackson and Ruth being the only two standouts who batted identically clearly shows that hitting is an individual talent.

DIDN'T Lou Boudreau wrap himself into a pretzel? You wondered how the splendid shortstop unraveled in time. When Stanley Musial first came around, some keen analyst cracked that Stan the Man wouldn't be in the league three weeks with that swing.

Ninety per cent of the good hitters have their feet together. Ty Cobb once told Harry Heilmann to get his feet together.

Yet overstriding is the most disastrous of faults. The batter is finished striding before he hits the ball, if he connects with it at all.

Cobb, Jackson, Ruth, Heilmann and O'Doul crowded the plate. Rogers Hornsby stood as far back and away from it as he could wait for the pitch to expend its energy before hitting it at the last split-second. The Rajah stepped in to knock outside pitches.

Musial is something of a left-hand hitting Hornsby in being behind and away from the plate, but his feet are together. Joe Mauer was away from the plate a bit. So was Al Simmons and the current foot-in-the-bucket swatter and wide straddler, Junior Stephens.

Joe DiMaggio is a straddle hitter, Ted Williams more normal, not too wide.

Hitting is a matter of striding and timing, so a balanced stance is perhaps the best for a beginner. It reduces the likelihood of overstriding. Not too much can go out of whack.

Warren High's 1951 Grid Card Includes Two New York Elevens

Two New York state schools, Jamestown and Dunkirk, have been added to the Warren high school football schedule for 1951.

Another feature of the 11-game card for the Dragons is the absence for the first time in many years of any team from Erie.

The addition of Jamestown and Dunkirk was made possible through a recent ruling by the New York State High School Athletic Association which eliminates the use of post-graduates on high school grid clubs. This was the key point in a dispute which caused an interruption last year in the long standing rivalry between Jamestown and Warren and between Jamestown and Bradford.

The Dragons' game this season with Jamestown is the last one on the schedule being booked for November 10 under the lights at Jamestown.

It has been nearly 20 years since Dunkirk appeared on the Warren high football card. The last game was played in 1932, after a five-year rivalry.

Head Coach J. B. Leidig says he well recalls the first time Warren played Dunkirk. It was in 1928, and the powerful Dragon squad that year had little trouble running up a 51-0 count against Dunkirk. The second-stringers then took over, and Dunkirk rallied enough to push the seconds back deep into their own territory. The Dragon varsity then begged Coach Leidig for a chance to go back in and stop the scoring threat.

Finally, in a move to see just what the first-stringers could do in such a situation, Coach Leidig sent the varsity in for a goal-line stand. Much to the embarrassment of the Varsity, Dunkirk punched across a touchdown, and the game ended, 51 to 6.

Coach Leidig said the absence of Erie schools on the schedule this season is because of the difficulties in drawing up the schedule from season to season. He pointed out that the Erie teams play in a City League, and that their open dates vary each year according to how the league schedule is drawn. This makes it difficult for a school outside the league to schedule games on a home and away basis, and still keep contract commitments with other teams.

Practice sessions for the Warren High squad will open Monday, August 20, and the first game will be an intra-squad match on Labor Day, September 3.

The full schedule:
Sept. 3—Intra-squad (home)
Sept. 7—Corry (away)
Sept. 14—Franklin (away)
Sept. 22—Titusville (home)
Sept. 29—Oil City (home)
